

Abstract

DATA STORAGE DRIVE AND METHOD EMPLOYING DATA COMPRESSION

A tape drive unit has a data compression engine coupled to an incoming data stream. A buffer memory stores data of the incoming data stream. A control module enables or disables the data compression engine in response to a function of the data occupancy level of the buffer memory.